ARSON, FIRE, FRAUD PREVENTION

After two years in operation, the office of State Fire Marshal is finally beginning to have a positive impact on the fire service in Idaho. Some of the promises made to deliver training and technical assistance to the fire departments will be fulfilled with the new deputy fire marshals that will be hired in 1984. Present plans call for one each, stationed in Lewiston, Boise, and Pocatello. They will have 70-80 fire departments to assist and serve. Their duties will be to educate and then assist the fire departments within their respective districts with the enforcement of the Uniform Fire Code, the use of good fire prevention practices, the determination of fire causes, and a method of rec rding and reporting fires based on national standards.

What has b most pleasing is the enthusiasm shown by the fire departments, both paid and volunteer alike, in starting their own fire prevention programs. There is no question that the fire services are entering a new era and that fire prevention is and will become as important as the suppression services as we have discovered that one without the other will not do the job.

We have five main goals which we believe can be achieved with the resources at hand. The resources we are referring to is the amount of money allotted within the arson, fire, and fraud account which is our sole source of support. The goals as previously stated are: (1) regulatory functions; (2) arson investigations; (3) fire data collection and analysis; (4) public fire safety education; and (5) fraud detection and prevention. The following is an update on each goal and what we hope to achieve in the future.

1. REGULATORY FUNCTIONS: The 1982 edition of the Uniform Fire Code has been adopted as our state's minimum fire safety standard. The authority to enforce this standard has been delegated to every fire chief of every city and fire district in Idaho; in other words, a shared responsibility of the local fire chief and the State Fire Marshal. Obviously with only three deputies, the office of the State Fire Marshal will be very limited as to actual enforcement of the fire code. The enforcement has to be done by local authorities, which I believe is much better than could ever be accomplished by the state. This is because local people know their problems much better than any outsider and local fire fighters should have an opportunity to learn what is in buildings during the course of a fire inspection. In this way fire prevention is accomplished as well as pre-planning in case of a fire.

   Our support in this effort will be to train and assist the fire departments.

2. ARSON INVESTIGATIONS: A new objective has been identified in this category, that being the establishment of local arson task forces. It has become quite clear that if we are going to have an impact on arson, that it will only come with a multi-jurisdictional effort. That being local fire departments, police, sheriff, and prosecutors joining together in a mutual effort on a larger scale than their own particular jurisdictions. The Deputy State Fire Marshal in charge of arson/fraud will be assigned the job of arson task force development.

3. FIRE DATA, COLLECTION, AND ANALYSIS: This goal has been partially achieved; however, there are still some problems to work out to make the system more accessible to the reporting departments in order for them to make decisions based upon their own fire problems. We are now in the process of writing our own data entry program with an analytical format that we will offer to fire departments, free of charge, so that they can report to us via computer floppy disk and also use to analyze their own fire data.

4. PUBLIC EDUCATION: Due to budgetary restrictions, little has been accomplished in this category. Our fire data proves that most fires are caused by people doing careless things. It has been our experience that these people simply have never been exposed to good fire safety practices. Given adequate funding, we can start educating people within our school systems and right on through life to live safely with fire and other hazardous substances within our ever changing environment.

5. FRAUD DETECTION AND PREVENTION: A new indexing system has been initiated wherein all suspects, as reported by the Insurance Industry on their "Suspected Insurance Fraud Reports", will be identified.

   By this method we should be able to identify habitual offenders, making it easier to show their activities and prosecute.
